About the product

The adapter allowed you to connect with more devices and media at the same time from one device. By the HDMI input the adapter converts the digital signal into an analog signal, allows you to connect a monitor or projector to the device. The adapter displays exactly what we have on our device (all activities, desktop, photos, videos, games, Internet, etc ...). The USB 3.0 inputs allows us to connect with all devices (e.g. video cameras, camera, cell phone, scanner, keyboards, flash drives, etc.). The big advantage of USB type C is its versatility and ability to use the data function. Depending on the device support, using USB-C you can also send audio and video, as well as charge the device, not only smartphones, but also laptops. Plug&Play interfaces the device works immediately without installing drivers. The product adapts perfectly to the device. Its lightness and handiness allow you to have the device always with you. The adapter has been limited in a modern, minimalist style.
